injunctive relief and other relief pursuant to federal antitrust laws and state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws, Plaintiffs demand a trial by jury, and allege as follows:

NATURE OF ACTION

1. This lawsuit is brought as a proposed class action against Defendants, the largest suppliers of Automotive Wire Harness Systems (defined below) globally and in the United States, for engaging in a massive, decade-long conspiracy to unlawfully fix and artificially raise the prices of these products. Defendants' conspiracy successfully targeted the long-struggling United States automotive industry, raising prices for car manufacturers and consumers alike.

2. Plaintiffs seek to represent consumers who purchased or leased new motor vehicles containing Automotive Wire Harness Systems or replacement Automotive Wire Harness Systems during the period from and including January 1, 2000 through such time as the anticompetitive effects of Defendants' conduct ceased (the "Class Period").

3. "Automotive Wire Harness Systems" are automotive electrical distribution systems used to direct and control electronic components, wiring, and circuit boards in an automotive vehicle. Essentially, Automotive Wire Harness Systems serve as the "central nervous system" of a motor vehicle. "Automotive Wire Harness Systems" include the following: automotive electrical wiring, lead wire assemblies, cable bond, automotive wiring connectors, automotive wiring terminals, electronic control units, fuse boxes, relay boxes, junction blocks, power distributors, and speed sensor wire assemblies.

4. The Delphi Defendants, the Denso Defendants, the Fujikura Defendants, the Furukawa Defendants, the Lear Defendants, the Leoni Defendants, the Sumitomo Defendants, S-Y Systems, the Yazaki Defendants, the Tokai Rika Defendants, and the G.S. Electech

Defendants (all as defined below, and collectively “Defendants”) manufacture, market, and sell Automotive Wire Harness Systems throughout the United States. The manufacture and sale of Automotive Wire Harness Systems is a multi-billion dollar industry.

5. Defendants and other co-conspirators (as yet unknown) agreed, combined, and conspired to inflate, fix, raise, maintain, or artificially stabilize prices of Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

6. Competition authorities in the United States, the European Union, and Japan have been investigating a conspiracy in the market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems since at least February 2010. As part of its criminal investigation, the United States Department of Justice (“DOJ”) is seeking information about anticompetitive conduct in the market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (“FBI”) has participated in raids, pursuant to search warrants, carried out in at least some of the Defendants’ offices. The European Commission Competition Authority (“EC”) has also conducted dawn raids at the European offices of several of the Defendants.

7. As hereafter more fully alleged, Defendants Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd., Yazaki Corporation, Denso Corporation, G.S. Electech, Inc., and Fujikura Ltd., have pleaded guilty to participating in the Automotive Wire Harness Systems cartel during the Class Period and have agreed to pay substantial fines for their unlawful conduct. These Defendants and their co-conspirators participated in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of Automotive Wire Harness Systems sold to automobile manufacturers and others in the United States. The combination and conspiracy engaged in by these Defendants and their co-conspirators was in unreasonable restraint of interstate and foreign trade and commerce in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

8. As part of their plea agreements, Defendants have agreed to assist the DOJ in its ongoing criminal investigation into the automotive parts industry.

9. As a direct result of the anti-competitive and unlawful conduct alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the Classes paid artificially inflated prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems during the Class Period and have thereby suffered antitrust injury to their business or property.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

10. Plaintiffs bring this action under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) to secure equitable and injunctive relief against Defendants for violating Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Plaintiffs also assert claims for actual and exemplary damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws, and seek to obtain restitution, recover damages and secure other relief against Defendants for violation of those state laws. Plaintiffs and the Classes also seek attorneys' fees, costs, and other expenses under federal and state law.

11. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26), Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1), and Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1331 and 1337. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of the state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d) and 1367, in that: (i) this is a class action in which the matter or controversy exceeds the sum of $5,000,000, exclusive of interests and costs, and in which some members of the proposed Classes are citizens of a state different from some Defendants; and (ii) Plaintiffs' state law claims form part of the same case or controversy as their federal claims under Article III of the United States Constitution.

12. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 22), and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this district, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this district, and one or more of the Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, or are found or transact business in this district.

13. This Court has in personam jurisdiction over each of the Defendants because each Defendant, either directly or through the ownership and/or control of its United States subsidiaries, inter alia: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this district; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed substantial quantities of Automotive Wire Harness Systems throughout the United States, including in this district; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States as a whole, including in this district; or (d) were engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to, the business or property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States, including in this district. Defendants also conduct business throughout the United States, including in this district, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States.

14. Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States that caused direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable and intended anti-competitive effects upon interstate commerce within the United States.

15. The activities of Defendants and their co-conspirators were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States. Defendants' products are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

16. Automotive Wire Harness Systems manufactured abroad by Defendants and sold for use in automobiles that were either manufactured in the United States or manufactured abroad and sold in the United States are goods brought into the United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any Automotive Wire Harness Systems are purchased in the United States, and such Automotive Wire Harness systems do not constitute import commerce, Defendants' unlawful activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein during the Class Period, had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on United States commerce described herein, proximately caused antitrust injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes in the United States.

17. By reason of the unlawful activities hereinafter alleged, Defendants substantially affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes. Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all states, to fix or inflate prices of Automotive Wire Harness Systems, which conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and adversely affected the market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

18. Defendants' conspiracy and wrongdoing described herein adversely affected persons in the United States who purchased Automotive Wire Harness Systems for personal use, including Plaintiffs and members of the Classes.

76. In December 2004, for example, Delphi Corporation and Furukawa Electric (defined below) announced the creation of a joint venture responsible for selling Automotive Wiring Harness Systems to Toyota in North America. The joint venture – named Delphi Furukawa Wiring Systems LLC – was based in Warren, Ohio. As Furukawa Electric stated in a press release:

Delphi Furukawa Wiring Systems LLC has the abilities for design, development and quality control of Wiring Harness succeeded from Furukawa Electric and the abilities for system integration, manufacturing and customer support in North America from Delphi, in order to meet and exceeds [sic] the customer's expectations. The joint venture is responsible for the sales and engineering activities for the Wiring Harness, which both Delphi and Furukawa Electric have agreed upon for Toyota programs in North America, and it will take charge of sales activities directly to the customer. 81. Following the Effective Date, the Delphi Defendants continued the Automotive Wire Harness Systems supply relationships that had been developed by the bankrupt entities, including, for example, Delphi Furukawa Wiring Systems LLC’s supply relationship with Toyota. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Automotive Wire Harness System Industry

124. Automotive Wire Harness Systems comprise the “central nervous system” of an automotive vehicle and consist of the wires or cables and data circuits that run throughout the vehicle. To ensure safety and basic functions (e.g., going, turning, and stopping), as well as to provide comfort and convenience, automobiles are equipped with various electronics that operate using control signals running on electrical power supplied from the battery. The Automotive Wire Harness System is the conduit for the transmission of these signals and electrical power. See Figures 1 and 2.

125. Automotive electrical wiring is the wiring that runs throughout the vehicle.

126. High voltage wiring is integral to vehicles equipped with hybrid, fuel-cell or electric-powered powertrains.

127. Lead wire assemblies connect a wire carrying electrical current from the power source to an electrode holder or a group clamp.

128. Cable bonds are the electrical connection between the armor or sheath of one cable and that of an adjacent cable or across a wire in the armor.

129. Automotive wiring connectors connect various types of wires in an automobile. Wire connectors that carry reduced amps tend to be small, while those connectors that are handling heavy loads tend to be much larger. Automotive wiring connectors can snap, slide, or clip together.

130. Automotive wiring terminals are the ends of a wire that provide a point of connection to external circuits.

131. Electrical control units are embedded modules or systems that control one or more of the electrical systems or subsystems in a motor vehicle. Motor vehicles are equipped with a large number of electronic control units which operate various automotive functions and exchange large volumes of data with one another.

132. Fuse boxes are modules that hold the fuses for the various electrical circuits, all of which are routed through the fuse box. The primary purpose of an electrical fuse is to help protect components on a circuit from damage in the event of a short circuit or a current spike or overload. Vehicles have several fuses that are necessary to safeguard electrical circuits.

133. Relay boxes are modules that hold the electrical switches that transit impulses from one component to another, and can be used to connect or break the flow of the current in a circuit. Once a relay is activated it connects an electrical or other data supply to a particular component or accessory.

134. Junction blocks are used as electrical connection points for the distribution power or distribution of a ground.

135. Power distributors serve to distribute power at varying levels to various electrical components.

136. Speed sensor wire assemblies are installed on automobiles with Antilock Brake Systems (“ABS”). The speed sensor wire assemblies connect a sensor on each tire to the ABS and carry electrical signals from the sensors to the ABS to instruct it when to engage.

137. Automotive Wire Harness Systems are installed by automobile original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”) in new cars as part of the automotive manufacturing process. They are also installed in cars to replace worn out, defective or damaged Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

138. For new cars, the OEMs—mostly large automotive manufacturers such as Honda, Toyota, Volvo, and General Motors—purchase Automotive Wire Harness Systems directly from Defendants. Automotive Wire Harness Systems may also be purchased by component manufacturers who then supply such systems to OEMs. These component manufacturers are also called “Tier 1 Manufacturers” in the industry. Tier I Manufacturers supply Automotive Wire Harness Systems directly to an OEM.

139. When purchasing Automotive Wire Harness Systems and related products, OEMs issue Requests for Quotation (“RFQs”) to automotive parts suppliers. Automotive parts suppliers submit quotations, or bids, to OEMs in response to RFQs, and the OEMs usually award the business to the selected automotive parts supplier for four to six years. Typically, the bidding process begins approximately three years prior to the start of production of a new model. Japanese OEMs procure parts for U.S.-manufactured vehicles both in Japan and the United States.

140. Defendants and their co-conspirators supplied Automotive Wire Harness Systems to OEMs for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere. Defendants and their co-conspirators manufactured Automotive Wire Harness Systems (a) in the United States for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, (b) in Japan for export to the United States and installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, and (c) in Japan for installation in vehicles manufactured in Japan for export to and sale in the United States.

141. Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Classes purchased Automotive Wire Harness Systems indirectly from one or more of the Defendants. By way of example, an owner of a vehicle may indirectly purchase an Automotive Wire Harness System from Defendants as part of purchasing or leasing the new vehicle. An owner of a vehicle may also indirectly purchase a replacement Automotive Wire Harness System from Defendants when repairing a damaged vehicle or where the vehicle's Automotive Wire Harness System is defective.

142. The global Automotive Wire Harness Systems market size reached US $21.9 billion in 2009, and increased by 32.2% to US $29 billion in 2010. According to Research in China, a leading source for international market research and market data, the Automotive Wire Harness Systems market is steadily growing, and is expected to be US $32 billion in 2012.

143. The global Automotive Wire Harness Systems market is dominated and controlled by large manufacturers, the top six of which are Defendants who control almost 90% of the global market; of those, four control almost 77% of the global market. See Figures 3 and 4.

144. Yazaki controlled almost 30% of the global market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems as of 2009. As it states on its website, its Automotive Wire Harness Systems are “used by every carmaker in Japan,” and it “commands a top share in the global market.” In fact, 77% of Yazaki’s sales are from Automotive Wire Harnesses, and 37% of its 2007 sales were in the Western Hemisphere. Yazaki’s largest customers are Toyota, followed by Chrysler, Ford, Renault-Nissan, Honda, and finally General Motors. In the Western Hemisphere, it supplies Chrysler, Ford, General Motors, Honda, Isuzu, Mazda, Mitsubishi, Nissan, Renault, Subaru, and Toyota.

145. Defendant Sumitomo is the second largest manufacturer of Automotive Wire Harness Systems, and controls 24% of the global market.

146. Defendant Delphi is the third largest maker of Automotive Harness Systems as of 2009. It controls 16.71% of the global market. Its two largest customers are General Motors and Ford.

147. Defendant Lear controls almost 5% of the global market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems. Lear supplies Toyota, General Motors, Ford, and BMW.

149. Defendant Leoni controls 6% of the global market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

150. By virtue of their market shares, Defendants are the dominant manufacturers and suppliers of Automotive Wire Harness Systems in the United States and the world.

B. Defendants Increased Prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems Despite Steady Costs

151. In a competitive market, falling material and labor costs would lead to decreased prices because each competitor would be afraid that other competitors would attempt to take advantage of their lower costs to lower their prices in order to capture market share. The only economically rational action in such a situation is for each competitor to lower its own prices.

152. In a market where competitors have engaged in a conspiracy to fix prices, however, competitors do not lower prices even when faced with steady or decreasing input costs. Such price decreases are unnecessary because the conspirators know that they will not lose sales to lower-priced competitors.

153. The price of Automotive Wire Harness Systems increased during the Class Period, while major input costs virtually remained the same. In fact, according to Research in China, Sumitomo and Furukawa own their own copper mines and effectively control their copper input costs. Copper is a major input cost component in the manufacture of Automotive Wire Harness Systems. In a competitive market, steady input costs should not have resulted in rising prices to Defendants' customers for Automotive Wire Harness Systems. Such anti-competitive price increases have resulted in Plaintiffs and members of the Classes paying supra-competitive prices.

C. The Structure and Characteristics of the Automotive Wire Harness Systems Market Render the Conspiracy More Plausible

154. The structure and other characteristics of the Automotive Wire Harness Systems market in the United States are conducive to a price-fixing agreement, and have made collusion particularly attractive in this market. Specifically, the Automotive Wire Harness Systems market: (1) has high barriers to entry; (2) has inelasticity of demand; (3) is highly concentrated; and (4) is rife with opportunities to conspire.

1. The Automotive Wire Harness Systems Market Has High Barriers to Entry

155. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supra-competitive pricing. Where, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are less likely to enter the market. Thus, barriers to entry help to facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

156. There are substantial barriers that preclude, reduce, or make more difficult entry into the Automotive Wire Harness Systems market. A new entrant into the business would face costly and lengthy start-up costs, including multi-million dollar costs associated with manufacturing plants and equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure, skilled labor, and long-standing customer relationships.

157. In addition, OEMs cannot change Automotive Wire Harness Systems suppliers randomly after they choose one because the OEMs design the features of their vehicles so that the Automotive Wire Harness System it purchases for a vehicle is then integrated with the electronics, mechanics, thermal distribution and other features of the particular vehicle model. Thus, the design must be synergized by Automotive Wire Harness Systems manufacturers and OEMs. It would be difficult for a new market entrant to do so.

2. There is Inelasticity of Demand for Automotive Wire Harness Systems

158. “Elasticity” is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be “inelastic” if an increase in the price of a product results in only a small decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

159. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in declining sales, revenues and profits, as customers purchased substitute products or declined to buy altogether. Inelastic demand is a market characteristic that facilitates collusion, allowing producers to raise their prices without triggering customer substitution and lost sales revenue.

160. Demand for Automotive Wire Harness Systems is highly inelastic. Demand for Automotive Wire Harness Systems is inelastic because there are no close substitutes for these products. In addition, customers must purchase Automotive Wire Harness Systems as an essential part of a vehicle, even if the prices are kept at a supra-competitive level.

3. The Market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems Is Highly Concentrated

161. A highly concentrated market is more susceptible to collusion and other anti-competitive practices.

162. As discussed above, Defendants dominate the Automotive Wire Harness Systems market. Six of the Defendants control almost 90% of the global market, and four of the Defendants control almost 77% of the global market: Yazaki controls almost 30%; Sumitomo controls 24%; Delphi controls 16.71%; Lear controls almost 5%; Furukawa controls almost 4%; and Leoni controls 6%.

4. Defendants had Ample Opportunities to Conspire

163. Defendants attended industry events where they had the opportunity to meet, have improper discussions under the guise of legitimate business contacts, and perform acts necessary for the operation and furtherance of the conspiracy. For example, Defendants and their co-conspirators have regularly attended the annual North American International Auto Show (“NAIAS”) in Detroit, Michigan and the Automotive Aftermarket Products Expo in Las Vegas, Nevada. Indeed, according to the NAIAS website, Defendant Denso was a premier sponsor of the 2012 event, held January 9 to January 22.

164. A globally coordinated antitrust investigation is taking place in the United States, Europe, and Japan, aimed at suppliers of Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

165. The probe originated in Europe as the result of several European OEMs coming together to bring a complaint to the European Commission (“EC”). One carmaker is said to have failed to attract competitive bids for Automotive Wire Harness Systems, leading the company to join with other carmakers to take their complaint to the EC.

166. On February 8, 2010, the EC executed surprise raids at the European offices of certain Defendants as part of an investigation into anti-competitive conduct related to the manufacturing and sale of Automotive Wire Harness Systems. The EC also carried out additional raids at the European offices of several suppliers of Automotive Wire Harness Systems on June 7, 2010. Specifically, EC investigators raided the offices of Leoni, S-Y Systems, and Yazaki. “The Commission has reason to believe that the companies concerned may have violated European Union antitrust rules that prohibit cartels and restrictive business practices,” an EC official said in a statement.

167. Defendants S-Y Systems and Leoni have admitted that they are cooperating with the antitrust investigators. Lear’s Chief Executive Officer Bob Rossiter has stated that Lear was notified by the EC that it is part of an investigation into anticompetitive practices among automotive electrical and electric component suppliers. In addition, Delphi has admitted to having “received a request for information from antitrust authorities at the European Commission seeking information about conduct by us in connection with an investigation in the European Union related to the electrical and electronic components market.” Delphi stated that it is cooperating fully with the European competition authorities. Leoni has also stated that it is cooperating with the antitrust investigators.

168. In February 2010, Japan’s Fair Trade Commission raided the Tokyo offices of Furukawa, Sumitomo, and Yazaki as part of an expansive investigation into collusion in the industry dating back to at least 2003.

169. The DOJ has stated that it is conducting an investigation of potential antitrust activity and coordinating its investigation with antitrust regulators in Europe. “The antitrust division is investigating the possibility of anticompetitive cartel conduct of automotive electronic component suppliers,” Justice Department Spokeswoman Gina Talamona said.

170. Indeed, on February 23, 2010, around the same time as the raids by the Japanese and European competition authorities, investigators from the FBI raided three Detroit-area Japanese auto parts makers as part of a federal antitrust investigation. The FBI executed warrants and searched the offices of these companies, including Defendants Denso, Tokai Rika, as well as Yazaki’s subsidiary in Canton Township, Michigan. Special Agent Sandra Berchtold said the affidavits supporting issuance of the warrants were sealed in federal court.

171. To obtain search warrants, the United States was legally required to have probable cause, accepted by a magistrate, to believe that it would obtain evidence of an antitrust violation as a result of executing the search warrant – that is, the United States had to have evidence sufficient to warrant a person of reasonable caution to believe that raiding the offices of a seemingly lawful business would uncover evidence of antitrust violations and that claimed evidence must have been examined and accepted by a magistrate. That belief, which was recounted in sworn affidavits or testimony, must be grounded on reasonably trustworthy information.

E. Guilty Pleas

172. On September 29, 2011, the DOJ announced that Defendant Furukawa Electric had agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $200 million fine for its role in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of Automotive Wire Harness Systems to automobile manufacturers.

173. Furukawa Electric is charged with price fixing in violation of the Sherman Act.

174. Furukawa Electric has pleaded guilty for its role in a conspiracy to rig bids for and to fix the prices of the sale of Automotive Wire Harnesses and related products sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere. The DOJ announced in a press release that Furukawa Electric participated in the conspiracy from at least as early as January 2000, until at least January 2010.

175. The plea agreements discussed herein are an outgrowth of the DOJ's first charges in its ongoing international cartel investigation of price fixing and bid rigging in the auto parts industry. According to four separate one-count felony charges filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan in Detroit, Furukawa Electric and its executives – Junichi Funo, Hirotugu Nagata, and Tetsuya Ukai – engaged in a conspiracy to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of Automotive Wire Harness Systems sold to customers in the United States and elsewhere.

176. According to the Information filed, Furukawa Electric and its co-conspirators carried out the conspiracy by:

(a) participating in meetings, conversations, and communications in the United States and Japan to discuss the bids and price quotations to be submitted to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(b) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, on bids and price quotations to be submitted to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(c) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to allocate the supply of Automotive Wire Harness Systems sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere on a model-by-model basis;

(d) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to coordinate price adjustments requested by automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(e) submitting bids, price quotations, and price adjustments to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere in accordance with the agreements reached;

(f) selling Automotive Wire Harness Systems to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(g) accepting payment for Automotive Wire Harness Systems sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(h) engaging in meetings, conversations, and communications in the United States and elsewhere for the purpose of monitoring and enforcing adherence to the agreed-upon bid-rigging and price-fixing scheme; and

(i) employing measures to keep their conduct secret, including but not limited to using code names and meeting at private residences or remote locations.

177. “As a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers,” said Sharis A. Pozen, Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Department of Justice’s Antitrust Division. “This cartel harmed an important industry in our nation’s economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped.”

178. “When companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States’ economic system,” said FBI’s Special Agent in Charge

Andrew G. Arena. “The FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes.”

179. At its November 14, 2011 Plea and Sentencing hearing, Defendant Furukawa Electric pleaded guilty, and was ordered to pay its $200 million fine within 45 days. At the hearing, Defendant Furukawa Electric described its participation in the conspiracy as follows:

From the time period listed in the Information, that is, approximately from January, 2000 to January, 2010, officers and employees of my company had discussions with employees of competitors that also manufactured and sold automotive wire harness products. . . . These discussions took place in face-to-face meetings or by telephone. The discussions took place in the United States and elsewhere.

During . . . such meetings and conversations, a conspiracy was formed and agreements were reached to allocate the supply of automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to automobile manufacturers on a model-by-model basis and to rig bids quoted to automobile manufacturers for automotive wire harnesses and related products.

Therefore, as a result of these meetings, my company produced and sold automotive wire harnesses and related products that were the subject of the illegal price fixing agreements that my company had made with competitors. Those products and the payments for those products traveled in interstate and foreign commerce and substantially affected interstate and foreign trade and commerce.

For the purposes of this plea agreement, during the time period of January, 2000 to January, 2010, our sales of automotive wire harnesses and related products affecting U.S. auto manufacturers totaled approximately $839 million.

Finally, we note to the Court that some of the products affected by the conspiracy were sold to automobile manufacturers by one of our subsidiaries [American Furukawa], which is located here in the Eastern District of Michigan.

– Plea & Sentencing, United States v. Furukawa Electric Co., No. 11-cr-20612 (E.D. Mich.), at 14-16.

180. Furukawa Electric's executives Funo, Nagata, and Ukai also admitted their participation in the unlawful cartel in open court:

(a) At his October 24, 2011 Guilty Plea Hearing, Furukawa executive Junichi Funo admitted that he participated in a conspiracy to restrain trade. Mr. Funo admitted entering into agreements with competitors – i.e., Defendants herein – in order to set prices and maintain them, including rigging bids that were solicited from customers. The agreements also sought to control, and did control, price adjustments. In Mr. Funo's own words, he "did price fixing for automotive parts." That price fixing "generally involved . . . wiring harnesses and related products." The price fixing affected the sales of goods throughout the United States. Mr. Funo was personally present at meetings during which such unlawful agreements were reached, including meetings that occurred in the Eastern District of Michigan. Pursuant to his plea, Mr. Funo was sentenced to one year of prison, fined $20,000, and pledged to cooperate in the DOJ's ongoing investigation.

(b) At his October 24, 2011 Guilty Plea Hearing, Furukawa executive Hirotsugu Nagata admitted that he participated in "an agreement to submit non-competitive bids in an amount greater than $100 million." The purpose of the agreement was to "suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry." In Mr. Nagata's own words, he furthered the unlawful conspiracy with Defendants by having "a meeting [with] co-conspirators and some agreement [on] price for automobile manufacturing parts" – primarily Automotive Wire Harness Systems. He personally participated in "several" unlawful meetings to further the conspiracy, at which Defendants made agreements on pricing for Automotive Wire Harness Systems, including rigging bids. Some of the meetings occurred within the Eastern District of Michigan, and Mr. Nagata conceded that the unlawful agreements would impact businesses with their principal place of business within the Eastern District of Michigan. Mr. Nagata noted that the price-fixed Automotive Wire Harness Systems were being sold in a number of different states in the United States, and undermined and prevented competition within the United States. Pursuant to his plea, Mr. Nagata was sentenced to serve 15 months in prison, fined $20,000, and pledged to cooperate with the DOJ's ongoing investigation.

(c) At his November 10, 2011 Guilty Plea and Sentencing Hearing, Furukawa executive Tetsuya Ukai stated that he "fix[ed] price[s] over parts – auto parts with other suppliers." He acknowledged that he met with competitors "in order to fix prices and rig bids with respect to wire harnesses and related products," and conceded that the price-fixing meetings occurred both within the United States and elsewhere. He also acknowledged that the price-fixing would affect commerce in the United States and elsewhere, including in the Eastern District of Michigan through a Furukawa subsidiary – presumably American Furukawa. In addition, Mr. Ukai agreed that the commerce affected exceeded $100 million. As part of his plea, Mr. Ukai agreed to serve 18 months in prison and pay a $20,000 fine for his role in the conspiracy.

181. Defendant Furukawa Electric, as well as Messrs. Funo, Nagata and Ukai, have all agreed to assist the DOJ in its ongoing investigation into the automotive parts industry.

182. On January 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that Defendant Yazaki Corporation had agreed to pay a $470 million fine and to plead guilty to a three-count criminal information charging Yazaki Corporation with: (1) participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as January 2000 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1; (2) participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, instrument panel clusters sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as December 2002 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1; and (3) participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of fuel senders sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as March 2004 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

183. In addition to Yazaki Corporation, four executives from Yazaki Corporation (all Japanese nationals) – Tsuneaki Hanamura, Ryoji Kuwai, Shigeru Ogawa, and Hisamitsu Takada – agreed to plead guilty to their participation in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive wire harnesses sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. These four executives of Yazaki Corporation will serve prison time ranging from 15 months to two years. The two-year sentences would be the longest term of imprisonment imposed on a foreign national voluntarily submitting to U.S. jurisdiction for a Sherman Act antitrust violation.

184. On March 26, 2012, the DOJ announced that Defendant Denso Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a total of $78 million in criminal fines to a two-count criminal information charging Denso with: (1) participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of electronic control units sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as January 2000 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1; (2) participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of heater control panels sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as January 2000 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. The “electronic control units” referenced herein are included within the definition of Automotive Wire Harness Systems alleged in this Complaint (see supra, paragraph 3).

185. On April 3, 2012, the DOJ announced that Defendant G.S. Electech Inc. agreed to plead guilty and pay a $2.75 million criminal fine to a one-count criminal information charging G.S. Electech Inc. with participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of speed sensor wire assemblies sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as January 2003 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. The “speed sensor wire assemblies” referenced herein are included within the definition of Automotive Wire Harness Systems alleged in this Complaint (see supra, paragraph 3).

186. On April 23, 2012, the DOJ announced that Defendant Fujikura Ltd. has agreed to plead guilty and pay a $20 million criminal fine to a one-count criminal information charging Fujikura with participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to an automobile manufacturer in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as January 2006 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

187. To date, Defendants that have pleaded guilty to their participation in the Automotive Wire Harness Systems cartel have agree to pay criminal fines totaling $770.75 million, among the largest criminal cartels ever obtained by the DOJ.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

188. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking equitable and injunctive relief on behalf of the following class (the “Nationwide Class”):

All persons and entities that indirectly purchased or leased in the United States, during the Class Period, Automotive Wire Harness Systems, for personal use and not for resale, including the purchase of Automotive Wire Harness Systems as a stand-alone replacement product or as a component of a new motor vehicle purchased or leased from any Defendant or any current or former subsidiary or affiliate thereof, or any co-conspirator.

189. Plaintiffs also bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure seeking damages pursuant to the antitrust, unfair competition, consumer protection, and unjust enrichment laws of the states whose laws are identified in Paragraphs 236-276 below (“Plaintiffs’ States”). These claims are brought by Plaintiffs on behalf of themselves and persons and entities in Plaintiffs’ States as follows (the “Damages Class”):

All persons and entities that indirectly purchased or leased in the Plaintiffs’ States, during the Class Period, Automotive Wire Harness Systems, for personal use and not for resale, including the purchase of Automotive Wire Harness Systems as a stand-alone replacement product or as a component of a new motor vehicle purchased or leased from any Defendant or any current or former subsidiary or affiliate thereof, or any co-conspirator.

190. The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.” Excluded from the Classes are Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal governmental entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities, and persons who purchased Automotive Wire Harness Systems directly or for resale.

191. While Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, Plaintiffs believe there are (at least) thousands of members in each Class.

192. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is particularly true given the nature of Defendants’ conspiracy, which was generally applicable to all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

(a) Whether Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain or stabilize the prices of Automotive Wire Harness Systems sold in the United States;

(e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust and unfair competition law, and/or state consumer protection law, as alleged in the Second and Third Claims for Relief;

(f) Whether Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, thereby entitling Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes to disgorgement of all benefits derived by Defendants, as alleged in the Fourth Claim for Relief;

(g) Whether the conduct of Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

(i) Whether any of the Plaintiffs knew, or had any reason to know, of the conspiracy engaged in by Defendants;

193. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes. Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for Automotive Wire Harnesses purchased indirectly from Defendants or their co-conspirators.

194. Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

195. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

196. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that it might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in management of this class action.

197. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

PLAINTIFFS AND THE CLASSES SUFFERED ANTITRUST INJURY

(b) The prices of Automotive Wire Harness Systems have been fixed, raised, maintained, or stabilized at artificially inflated levels; and

200. The markets for Automotive Wire Harness Systems and the market for cars are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems exists to serve the vehicle market. Without the vehicles, the Automotive Wire Harness Systems have little to no value because they have no independent utility. Indeed, the demand for vehicles creates the demand for Automotive Wire Harness Systems. As Lear stated in its 2010 Annual Report: “Our sales are driven by the number of vehicles produced by the automotive manufacturers, which is ultimately dependent on consumer and fleet demand for automotive vehicles.”

201. Automotive Wire Harness Systems are identifiable, discrete physical products that remain essentially unchanged when incorporated into a vehicle. As a result, Automotive Wire Harness Systems follow a traceable physical chain of distribution from the Defendants to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, and any costs attributable to Automotive Wire Harness Systems can be traced through the chain of distribution to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

202. By reason of the alleged violations of the antitrust laws, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have sustained injury to their businesses or property, having paid higher prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' illegal contract, combination, or conspiracy, and, as a result, have suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined. This is an antitrust injury of the type that the antitrust laws were meant to punish and prevent.

PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS ARE NOT BARRED BY THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

A. The Statute of Limitations Did Not Begin to Run Because Plaintiffs Did Not and Could Not Discover Their Claims

203. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege the allegations set forth above.

204. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until shortly before the initial complaint was filed in this multi-district litigation. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes did not discover, and could not have discovered through the exercise of reasonable diligence, the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein until September 29, 2011, at the earliest, the date that the DOJ announced that Defendant Furukawa Electric had agreed to plead guilty for its role in the criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy alleged herein.

205. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes are consumers who purchased or leased automobiles or purchased Automobile Wire Harness Systems to replace or repair damaged or defective Wire Harness Systems in their automobiles. They had no direct contact or interaction with any of the Defendants in this case and had no means from which they could have discovered the combination and conspiracy described in this Complaint before the DOJ's September 29, 2011 announcement alleged above.

206. No information in the public domain was available to the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to the DOJ's announcement on September 29, 2011 that revealed sufficient information to suggest that any one of the Defendants was involved in a criminal conspiracy to price-fix and rig bids for Automotive Wire Harness Systems. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no means of obtaining any facts or information concerning any aspect of Defendants' dealings with OEMS or other direct purchasers, much less the fact that they had engaged in the combination and conspiracy alleged herein.

207. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

208. In the alternative, application of the doctrine of fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations on the claims asserted herein by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes did not know and could not have known of the existence of the conspiracy and unlawful combination alleged herein until September 29, 2011 at the earliest, the date that the DOJ announced that Defendant Furukawa Electric had agreed to plead guilty for its role in the criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy alleged herein.

209. Before that time, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes were unaware of Defendants' unlawful conduct, and did not know before then that that they were paying supra-competitive prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems throughout the United States during the Class Period. No information, actual or constructive, was ever made available to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes that even hinted to Plaintiffs that they were being injured by Defendants' unlawful conduct.

210. The affirmative acts of the Defendants alleged herein, including acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, were wrongfully concealed and carried out in a manner that precluded detection.

211. By its very nature, Defendants' anti-competitive conspiracy and unlawful combinations were inherently self-concealing. Automotive Wire Harness Systems are not exempt from antitrust regulation and, thus, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes reasonably considered it to be a competitive industry. Defendants met and communicated in secret and agreed to keep the facts about their collusive conduct from being discovered by any member of the public or by the OEMs and other direct purchasers with whom they did business.

212. For instance, the DOJ charged Defendants Fujikura Ltd., Furukawa Electric, G.S. Electech, Inc. and Yazaki Corporation with, among other unlawful acts, "employing measures to keep their conduct secret, including but not limited to using code names and meeting at private residences or remote locations." These corporate Defendants have since pleaded guilty to charges levied against them by the DOJ.

213. In addition, the DOJ charged individual corporate officers of certain Defendants with using code names and engaging in secret, conspiratorial meetings to hide Defendants' conspiracy from the public and competition authorities. To date, Junichi Funo from Furukawa and Tsuneaki Hanamura, Ryoji Kawai, Shigeru Ogawa, and Hisamitsu Takada from Yazaki Corporation have all pleaded guilty to charges levied against them by the DOJ. Accordingly, a reasonable person under the circumstances would not have been alerted to investigate the lawfulness of Defendants' Automotive Wire Harness Systems prices.

214. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes could not have discovered the alleged combination or conspiracy at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence because of the deceptive practices and techniques of secrecy employed by the Defendants and their co-conspirators to avoid detection of, and fraudulently conceal, their conduct.

215. Throughout the course of the conspiracy, the Defendants met and communicated in secret in order to conceal their conspiracy from the public and avoid detection thereof. Above and beyond their acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, such as acts of bid rigging, Defendants engaged in surreptitious activity such as using code names and meeting at private residences or remote locations. The exact dates and times of these meetings are within the knowledge of the Defendants, including those Defendants and executives of those Defendants who have pleaded guilty in this Court to criminal violations of the Sherman Act. These Defendants have not provided any documents and information about these admitted acts of concealment to Plaintiffs or the members of the Classes.

216. Because the alleged conspiracy was both self-concealing and affirmatively concealed by Defendants and their co-conspirators, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no knowledge of the alleged conspiracy, or of any facts or information that would have caused a reasonably diligent person to investigate whether a conspiracy existed, until September 29, 2011, at the earliest, the date that the DOJ announced that Defendant Furukawa Electric had agreed to plead guilty for its role in the criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy alleged herein.

217. For these reasons, the statute of limitations applicable to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims was tolled and did not begin to run until September 29, 2011.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

219. Defendants and unnamed conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination, or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1).

220. The acts done by each of the Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, their contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of Defendants' affairs.

221. At least as early as January 2000, and continuing through the filing of this Complaint, the exact dates being unknown to Plaintiffs, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, stabilize, and control prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

222. The anti-competitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems throughout the United States.

224. As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other similarly situated indirect purchasers in the Nationwide Class who purchased Automotive Wire Harness Systems have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supra-competitive prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

225. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth herein.

(a) Price competition in the market for Automotive Wire Harness Systems has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the United States;

(b) Prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels throughout the United States; and

(c) Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class who purchased Automotive Wire Harness Systems indirectly from Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

227. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for Automotive Wire Harness Systems purchased indirectly from Defendants and the co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

228. The alleged contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of State Antitrust Statutes

231. 232. The contract, combination, or conspiracy consisted of an agreement among the Defendants and their co-conspirators to fix, raise, inflate, stabilize, and/or maintain at artificially supra-competitive prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems and to allocate customers for Automotive Wire Harness Systems in the United States.

233. In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

(a) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere during which they agreed to price Automotive Wire Harness Systems at certain levels, and otherwise to fix, increase, inflate, maintain, or stabilize effective prices paid by Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class with respect to Automotive Wire Harness Systems sold in the United States;

(b) allocating customers and markets for Automotive Wire Harness Systems in the United States in furtherance of their agreements; and

(c) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere to implement, adhere to, and police the unlawful agreements they reached.

234. Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in the actions described above for the purpose of carrying out their unlawful agreements to fix, maintain, decrease, or stabilize prices and to allocate customers with respect to Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

235. Defendants' anticompetitive acts described above were knowing, willful and constitute violations or flagrant violations of the following state antitrust statutes.

(a) During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a continuing unlawful trust in restraint of the trade and commerce described above in violation of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code. Defendants, and each of them, have acted in violation of Section 16720 to fix, raise, stabilize, and maintain prices of, and allocate markets for, Automotive Wire Harness Systems at supracompetitive levels.

(b) The aforesaid violations of Section 16720, California Business and Professions Code, consisted, without limitation, of a continuing unlawful trust and concert of action among the defendants and their co-conspirators, the substantial terms of which were to fix, raise, maintain, and stabilize the prices of, and to allocate markets for, Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

(c) For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, the Defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but in any way limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above and the following: (1) Fixing, raising, stabilizing, and pegging the price of Automotive Wire Harness Systems; and (2) Allocating among themselves the production of Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(f) Defendants' deception, including its affirmative misrepresentations and omissions concerning the price of Automotive Wire Harness Systems, likely misled all consumers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Automotive Wire Harness Systems at prices born by a free and fair market. Defendants' affirmative misrepresentations and omissions constitute information important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Automotive Wire Harness Systems they purchased.

(g) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Rhode Island Gen. Laws. § 6-13.1-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

276. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Vermont, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Automotive Wire Harness Systems were sold, distributed, or obtained in Vermont.

(b) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business consumer, defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all consumers during the Class Period that defendants' Automotive Wire Harness Systems prices were competitive and fair.

(c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Automotive Wire Harness Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Vermont; (2) Automotive Wire Harness Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

(d) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

(e) Defendants' deception, including its affirmative misrepresentations and omissions concerning the price of Automotive Wire Harness Systems, likely misled all consumers acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Automotive Wire Harness Systems at prices born by a free and fair market. Defendants' misleading conduct and unconscionable activities constitutes unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

FOURTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Unjust Enrichment
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

278. As a result of their unlawful conduct described above, Defendants have and will continue to be unjustly enriched. Defendants have been unjustly enriched by the receipt of, at a minimum, unlawfully inflated prices and unlawful profits on sales of Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

279. Defendants have benefited from their unlawful acts and it would be inequitable for Defendants to be permitted to retain any of the ill-gotten gains resulting from the overpayments made by Plaintiffs of the members of the Damages Class for Automotive Wire Harness Systems.

280. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the amount of Defendants' ill-gotten gains resulting from their unlawful, unjust, and inequitable conduct. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are entitled to the establishment of a constructive trust consisting of all ill-gotten gains from which Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class may make claims on a pro rata basis.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Accordingly, Plaintiffs respectfully request that:

A. The Court determine that this action may be maintained as a class action under Rule 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and direct that reasonable notice of this action, as provided by Rule 23(c)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, be given to each and every member of the Classes;

B. That the unlawful conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein be adjudged and decreed:

(a) An unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;

(b) A per se violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act;

(c) An unlawful combination, trust, agreement, understanding and/or concert of action in violation of the state antitrust and unfair competition and consumer protection laws as set forth herein; and

(d) Acts of unjust enrichment by Defendants as set forth herein.

C. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed under such laws, and that a joint and several judgment in favor of Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be entered against Defendants in an amount to be trebled to the extent such laws permit;

D. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class recover damages, to the maximum extent allowed by such laws, in the form of restitution and/or disgorgement of profits unlawfully gained from them;

E. Defendants, their affiliates, successors, transferees, assignees and other officers, directors, partners, agents and employees thereof, and all other persons acting or claiming to act on their behalf or in concert with them, be permanently enjoined and restrained from in any manner continuing, maintaining or renewing the conduct, contract, conspiracy, or combination alleged herein, or from entering into any other contract, conspiracy, or combination having a similar purpose or effect, and from adopting or following any practice, plan, program, or device having a similar purpose or effect;

F. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class be awarded restitution, including disgorgement of profits Defendants obtained as a result of their acts of unfair competition and acts of unjust enrichment;

G. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes be awarded pre- and post- judgment interest as provided by law, and that such interest be awarded at the highest legal rate from and after the date of service of this Complaint;

H. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes recover their costs of suit, including reasonable attorneys' fees, as provided by law; and

I. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes have such other and further relief as the case may require and the Court may deem just and proper.
